DANGEROUS INTERSECTION REMEDIATED — The entrance of Paradise Road onto Route 35 (outer Vernon St.) has been rebuilt during the past month. The location has been somewhat hazardous for over a dozen years because of a lack of visibility and the steep incline of Paradise Road, as a result of re-construction at that time which left the intersection entirely in Bethel. Shown above is this summer's work which returns the road approximately to its original location. About two-tenths of a mile of Route 35 in Bethel and Greenwood was re-constructed with State Aid funds as well as a part of Paradise Road. The work was done by a State crew with Oscar Annis as foreman.

GREENWOOD CITY

— Mrs. Collette Morgan, Corres. —

It's late August and there's a soft bloom of the ripening of summer coming over our landscape. The mists are hanging veiling of delicate blue. Some meadow grasses are now turned amber by the sun and are softly furrowed by the wind. Higher up grow the blackberries and the Steeple Bush. In places neglected and withered are the June grasses. Here and there clumps of alders and vines show effects of the long siege of summer sun and the dryness of several weeks.

The pasture and roadsides are dotted with flowers. Fall asters, black-eyed-Susans, common this-tile, best loved by the goldfinch looping in the sunlight, Joe Rye-Weed, king of the meadow, and of course the golden rod, tasseled head lifted to the sun, a symbol of late summer and early fall. When there is the meadow-lily. What is more enchanting than a wood bordered meadow or roadside hung with these delicate nodding bells which look as though ready to tinkle at the least disturbance and sound an alarm among the flowers.

Venture along the brooks or ponds and occasionally you find one of our most beautiful rare flowers, the cardinal. Its bright color, sophisticated irregularity of blossom, and attraction to humming birds, combine to give it an aura all its own. Because of over picking, it has become quite rare. Its brilliant gleam is reflected from the shadowy waters edge with unequalled intensity.

"As if some wounded eagles breast

Crows flap heavily from tree tops taking their long course up the valley across the little divide and down into a section of green timber where they are lost to view.

The air has the high rich yet subtle perfume of the mountains possibly mingled with a rich aroma swept landward by the ocean at decline of day.

In the gardens, in the silence of this August afternoon, there is the musical droning of the bees.

Soon—so very soon, the windy pastures and deep forests of the mountains will be alive with color and the sigh of the wind will tell us that autumn is here once more.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Traditional organ music was furnished by Richard Melville of Locke Mills with Roy Lurvey, of Gorham, as soloist.

The bride wore a floor length gown with a long train and a long veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations with yellow ribbon. The bridesmaids wore light blue dresses with white collars and cuffs. The groom wore a tuxedo with a white shirt and a white bow tie. The wedding cake was a three-tiered cake with white frosting and red ribbons. The reception was held at the Locke Mills Union Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Norton Brooks

The bride's wedding gown was a floor length, bouffant style of tulle and chantilly lace. The gown had a tight bodice with a bateau neckline and medallion appliques trimmed with iridescent sequins. The sleeves were long and ended with bridal points. The skirt had tiers of chantilly lace and the back was all lace tapering into a "chapel length style." Her petal like veil of illusion fell from a crown of pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white and pink carnations with red rose buds in the center.

Miss Carolyn Melville was her maid of honor and wore a yellow empire style gown with small tulle ruffles at the hem. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow tinted carnations with yellow satin ribbon.

The bridesmaids, Miss Joyce Farwell, Miss Cheryl Stevens, and Miss Sandra Lurvey wore street length dresses of white lace with blue trim. Joyce carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations tinted green with green ribbon. Cheryl carried a bouquet of white carnations tinted blue with blue ribbon. Sandy carried a bouquet of white carnations tinted pink with pink ribbon.

Matthew Brooks, brother of the groom, was best man. Randy Chretien and Miss Jackie Brooks, Ronnie Hanscom, all cousins of the groom served as ushers.

Following the wedding, a reception was held at the Locke Mills Legion Hall. The gift table was in charge of Mrs. Violet Chretien and Miss Jackie Brooks, aunt and cousin, of the groom. The guest book was in charge of Miss Kathleen Bachelder, cousin of the bride.

The wedding cake was made by Mrs. Alberta Wheeler of Auburn.

For her wedding trip the bride wore an ensemble of green with white accessories. After the undisclosed trip the couple are at home in Hanover.

foundation of fellowship, in which

NON-PROFIT GROUP TO BUILD NURSING HOME AT WEST PARIS

In March, 1967, a non-profit, charitable, corporation composed of 12 charter members was organized, with the purpose of building and operating an up to date skilled nursing facility in the West Paris area. A five acre tract of land, on Route 26 was purchased, and the name of "Ledgeview Memorial Home" was chosen because of the unimpeded view of the surrounding hills.

This corporation was designed and planned to continue the same care and to foster the homelike atmosphere which has characterized the "Chapel Valley Nursing Home", located in West Paris village.

The new building will be a one story structure, with a 48-bed capacity, and will feature spacious walks, patios, an attractive dining room, and rooms for religious services and recreational activities.

The estimated cost of building and equipping this structure is $275,000. In order to make this project a reality, and to make it possible for patients in the low income bracket to be cared for in a modern, up-to-date nursing home, it has been necessary to look to the public for donations to supplement the cost.

Under the direction of Mrs.
Marie Hibler, General Campaign Chairman, a buffet dinner was served on July 16, in the West Paris Grange Hall, to prospective workers and friends, from Bethel, Buckfield, Hartford, Norway, South Paris, Greenwood, Sumner and Woodstock, which started the soliciting campaign. This is not a yearly campaign and it is hoped that the goal of $100,000 will have been reached by September 30.

There is an urgent need for volunteer workers from each town who will contact prospective donors, and for those who have been contacted, by mail and in person to return their pledge cards.

Pledges can be made on a three year plan, divided into 12 quarterly payments, thus giving a tax spread of that length of time.

Blue prints are now in the hands of the architects and work will be started as soon as the necessary funds are available and the contract signed. It is estimated that it will be completed within six months of the starting date. This proposed nursing home will fill a vital need in the lives of the people of the surrounding towns.

It will be governed by a Board of Directors now numbering

The resignation of Dixfield chief of police, Robert Davis, was accepted by the selectmen to become effective on Sunday.

Thirty youngsters, ages 9 through 11, from the Danforth Street, India Street neighborhoods, Sagamore Park and Kennedy Park areas in Portland recently spent a week on farms in the Fryeburg, Canton and Rumford areas, Russell Clark, Oxford County Extension agent was much pleased with the success of the 4-H project and probably the plan will be extended in 1969.

The historic First Baptist Church, Paris Hill, was the site of the 13th annual Old Home Sunday, Aug. 18. The program started at 11 a. m. with a worship service. Lunch was served on the Village Common. A concert of sacred music at 2:30 p. m. was enjoyed. The original church building was erected in 1804. The new structure has one of the original Paul Revere cast bells and a tower donated by Hannibal Hamlin.

The first commandant of the Marine Corps was Major Samuel Nicholas. He served from 1775 to 1781. No one acted in that capacity again until 1796 when Lt.
Col. William Ward Burrows was appointed to the post by President John Adams.

New London, Conn.

As a Fourth Classman he is scheduled to attend summer

VISITORS ENTERTAINED AT METHODIST PARSONAGE

Rev. David Moore and his wife, Anne (Stebbins), sister of Rev. George Stebbins, stayed overnight, Tuesday. The Moores are missionaries from Indonesia where Rev. Moore has been teaching in a Protestant seminary. The purpose of their visit to Maine was to bring Rev. Irving R. Stebbins to Bethel. Rev.
I. R. Stebbins is father of our Methodist minister. He was a missionary in Viet-Nam for over 40 years and six of his children returned to Southeast Asia in religious work. He will be living at the parsonage for about one month after which he will return to his retirement home in Florida.

This Sunday Rev. George Stebbins will be preaching at the Methodist Church. The Stebbins family have returned home after one month of vacationing. They traveled with their trailer to Acadia National Park, Long Island, Albany and Rochester, N. Y.

BETHEL TOWNIES HAVE IMPROVED SEASON

The Bethel Townies ended their season at Rumford on Aug. 6.
Their record was seven wins and 13 losses. This is a marked improvement from past years.

Many new faces appeared this year and they proved to be very helpful. The crowds increased throughout the year and the team would like to thank the people who came out to see them play.
Bethel faced some rough competition this year including a new club, Strong. They proved to be a big part in determining the league champions.

Next year it is hoped Bethel will join the league again. There will be a meeting Monday, Aug.
26, at 7:30 p. m., in the Casco Bank meeting hall in Bethel.
It is urged that all who wish to play next year be present. If there isn't a good turnout it may be necessary to stay out of the league. Hopefully all that plan to return will be present at the meeting so each person's potential position may be planned on.
Those finding it impossible to attend but wishing to play next year are asked to get in touch with Don Tyler or Bill Keoskie before the meeting. Also the members of the Bryant Pond team are asked to come to this meeting.

To all team members: Please return your uniforms to Bill Ke-

TREE FEELINGS

The various responses to the articles on trees were gratifying-ly poetic.

Let us devote then this one to the poets who voiced their "tree feelings" in various new-papers and magazines throughout the country at a time when the epidemic of "tree surgery" was at its worst, performed by self-styled tree surgeons.

Woodman, Spare That Tree

by George F. Morris
Woodman, spare that tree!
Touch not a single bough!
In youth it sheltered me, and I'll protect it now.
'Twas my forefather's hand That placed it near his cot; There, woodman, let it stand;
Thy axe shall harm it not!
That old familiar tree, Whose glory and renown
Are spread o'er land and sea And wouldst thou hack it down?

Woodman, forbear thy stroke!
Cut not its earth-bound ties; O spare that aged oak,
Now towering to the skies.
When but an idle boy
I sought its grateful shade;
In all their gushing joy, Here, too, my sisters played.
My mother kissed me here;
My father pressed my hand—Forgive the foolish tear, But let that old oak stand.
My heartstrings round thee cling, Close as thy bark, old friend;
Here shall the wild bird sing,
And still the branches bend.
Old Tree! The storm still brave!
And, woodman, leave the spot, While I've a hand to save,
Thy axe shall harm it not.

Clearing Brush

The wooded lot across the street is being cleared.
The end of this fine battleground is drawing near.

This was where boys and girls would make their forts Which would then be wrecked by other crowds in spiteful sport.
They were the castle gardens when we played Princesses or maybe Indian hideouts and settler's barricade.
But now the paths are gone where two could pass abreast.
Cut down brush is piled so high It is more dense a wilderness.

I hope they only clear away the brush and leave the trees there standing straight and tall, and do not leave just grass so green and lush But without the majesty of a stately tree.

I hope they do not cut down all the trees
And then plant lollipops from nurseries.

Instead of leaving that which nature formed
And which is now mature and beautiful.

I hope what nature's planted in my mind
The wisdom of the years, I'll then be able To clear the brush and stunted undergrowth

Which has been given by other sources not so wise.
I hope I will not clear out everything the good along with the bad and then begin To plant the Lollipops, those small ideas Which if they ever grow into trees will be But poor compared to those which might have been If only I'd had sense enough to let them grow and then mature and follow nature's plans.

Laura E. Conrad (age 13)
Fall River, Mass.

A recent article in the magazine of Landscape Architects was entitled "Beware of the Tree Butchers".
Please, beautiful Bethel, heed the warning!
